

PROMISES – PROMISES

© Michael Franz Whitby

Combining aesthetics is like making promises to time

With that said:

Never promise more than is truly realistic

That way:

The hope is out of the equation

Individuals will always say the right things to you

Furthermore:

Is one positive better than two negatives?

Combining aesthetics is making that perfection leap

To be the one who saw the future

Because readings of past have stated:

Slow and steady wins the race

And you have seen the possibilities in this changing world

To debate that stance – one should be proud

Because your combination was the right one

Since others will come...

...as you make more improvements...

...there will be more questions

Combining aesthetics is not hard to do

Is just the diagnosis for a smarter overstanding'

Since what is done now

Is the 'doingness' for the future

No masking of talent shortage within ones' likings

For you its one step at a time

Combination now – promises kept later

Sometimes, you have to keep your promises

Life is always in accordance with beautiful principles

And in ones' aesthetic moments

One should profess or perceive to keep thy promises

In good standing, while looking good
